

You are invited to the following event:

LINKED LEARNING REGIONAL PLANNING SUMMIT

Wednesday, June 25, 2014 from 2:00
PM to 5:30 PM (PDT)

Joan Kroc Institute for Peace and Justice
5998 Alcalá Park
University of San Diego

View Map

Attend Event

Share:

Come be a co-designer of the next frontier in high school education in San Diego County. Linked Learning San Diego (LLSD) is implementing a new approach in high school education across our county, and we need teachers, employers, students and community leaders to help build out regional support systems for the schools. Please bring an innovative mindset and a commitment to our students' success with you on June 25 – we're depending on you.

THE LLSD Regional Planning Summit will help shape the San Diego version of Linked Learning with a half-day, solution-generating innovation lab curated by the Silicon Valley innovation firm SMALLIFY. Throughout SMALLIFY's program of innovative, guided exercises, we will rely on you to conceive and plan for Linked Learning. Help us illuminate the needs of San Diego students, the opportunities and barriers for employer partners, and the tangible results that will help us build the workforce of the future.

Intrigued? RSVP to join us on the day or click here to find out more:

<https://linkedlearningsummit.eventbrite.com>

To find out more about Linked Learning, please visit:

www.linkedlearning.org

Best,

Education Synergy Alliance